

The background of the cover is a close-up photograph of azalea flowers. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The colors range from light pink to a vibrant orange-pink. The stamens are long and thin, extending from the center of the flowers. The background is slightly blurred, showing more flowers and green foliage.

The Azalean

Vol. 42 • No. 2 • Summer 2020

Journal of the Azalea Society of America